

Love Story Part 1

She said I'm going to beat you so hard at scrabble.

He said how's your lexicon?

She said what?

He said you always pick the guys with the problems. What's your problem?

She said I suppose I feel I can change them.

He said but then what?

She said once they're better they move on. I am the human hospital.

He said don't waste your time with people who are wasting you.

She said it's not as though I intentionally seek out men with issues.

He said no?

She said no.

He said I'll sort myself out by tomorrow don't worry.

She said do you want to physically talk?

She said we can Skype or something?

She said or I can call you?

He said worry yourself not with me.